

ISLAND PART OF U. S.

New York Court of Appeals
So Holds of Porto Rico.

SETTLED BY TREATY OF PARIS

Justice Decides That Laws of Requisition and Not of Extradition Apply in Matter of Delivering Up Prisoners Between United States and the Island Possession.

New York, Feb. 8.—In affirming a decision dismissing a writ of habeas corpus sued out by Abraham Kopel, the appellate division rendered an opinion today to the effect that Porto Rico is actually and constitutionally a territorial department of the United States, and the laws of requisition, rather than those of extradition, apply to it in the case of criminals.

Kopel was indicted in Porto Rico for grand larceny and fled to New York. He was arrested and got a habeas corpus hearing, in which he denied the jurisdiction of the United States courts. Kopel's counsel insisted that extradition and not requisition papers were necessary. In affirming the decision of Justice Trux, the appellate division held that the laws of Porto Rico became territorially a part of the United States under the treaty of Paris, and that therefore section 527 of the Revised Statutes, relating to requisitions, is applicable as if Porto Rico were actually a part of the United States.

CORBETTS SUE DR. HAMLIN.

Ask $50,000 for Alleged Persecution in Signing Insanity Affidavit.

Miss Corbetta L. Corbett, who was for two years incarcerated in the Government Hospital for the Insane, filed suit yesterday for $50,000 damages against Dr. D. T. Hamlin, pastor of the Church of the Covenant, charging false imprisonment and malicious prosecution in this connection.

In the declaration prepared by Miss Corbett's attorneys, it is set forth that Dr. Hamlin signed an affidavit in June, 1906, and persuaded Dr. Alice Burritt to sign it, charging Miss Corbett with being of unsound mind, and that through this affidavit Miss Corbett was arrested and committed to the asylum. On the count of malicious prosecution it is charged that Dr. Hamlin made use of his standing as a clergyman in opposing Miss Corbett's efforts to secure her release from the asylum and a trial by jury.

The story of Miss Corbett attracted a great deal of attention last October, when she was tried by jury, declared sane, and released. Since that time her friends have been expecting civil action against Dr. Hamlin.

The pastor declined yesterday to make any statement regarding the suit, and Miss Corbett's attorneys were equally reticent. What motive will be claimed by the plaintiff for Dr. Hamlin's alleged persecution will not be made known until the trial.

FORM ALUMNI ASSOCIATION.

Former Officers of High School Cadets Effect Organization.

Former officers of the High School Cadets held a meeting at the New Willard last night to form an alumni association, and a permanent organization was effected. The object of the association is to encourage military instruction in the public schools and to enable graduate members of the high schools to perfect their military training in the annual military camp, which for two years has been a summer feature of the high school life.

Among those present were the principal officers, who attended the camp of cadets last summer and the former year and others resident in the city. Capt. P. H. Lathum, Eastern '05, was elected president; Capt. J. W. Bland, Western '06, vice president; Capt. C. C. Caylor, Central '06, treasurer; Capt. M. C. Gough, Tech. '06, secretary; and Capt. C. O. Howard, commandant of last summer's encampment, corresponding secretary.

MAY MODIFY PORT LAWS.

Straus Investigating Medical Examination Rules.

The new Secretary of Commerce and Labor is making a special study of the immigration question. He had a conference yesterday with Surgeon General Wyman and a number of physicians of the Marine Hospital Service. The idea is to simplify and make more uniform the medical examinations at the various ports. A detailed investigation in the service that might appear advisable will be reported to the Secretary from time to time. It is the purpose of the Secretary to hold conference with the Commissioner of Immigration shortly.

MREYNOLDS GIVEN CHARGE.

Government Names Him to Prosecute the Tobacco Trust.

The Department of Justice yesterday afternoon announced that it has placed the active work of prosecuting the tobacco trust in the charge of J. C. McReynolds, former Assistant Attorney General in the department.

McReynolds has been made a special assistant to the Attorney General, occupying the same rank as Assistant Purdy, who has had charge of the Standard Oil prosecutions. He succeeds Henry W. Taft, of New York, a half brother of Secretary of War Taft, who has had charge of the work up to this time.

Dr. Griggs Lectures on Tolstoi.

Edward Howard Griggs last night delivered the fifth in the series of lectures on "The Great Moral Leaders" in the lecture hall of the Church of the Covenant, for the benefit of the Washington Playground Association. Dr. Griggs' lecture last night was upon "Tolstoi," and the life and career of the great Russian reformer and publicist was reviewed in a graphic manner, the speaker bringing out especially his labors for many years in behalf of the peasantry of his native land. The grim figure of the reformer, who has been likened to Martin Luther, was drawn with skill.

Samuel Nichols Is Missing.

The police have been asked to locate Samuel Nichols, who left here December 16 for Franklin Junction, Va., but has not been heard of since. F. Dulin, 523 French street, who made the request, stated that the young man had been staying with him for several weeks, when he wrote a letter to his mother at Franklin Junction saying that he would be at home in a few days. On December 16 last he left Dulin's house, and has not been heard of from that time. When last seen, Nichols was about twenty years of age, wore a dark suit and a derby.

LECTURER DESCRIBES GUIANAS.

Prof. Hellprin Says Countries Are as Yet Unexplored.

"The Guianas" was the subject of a lecture by Prof. Angelo Hellprin, of Yale University, before the National Geographic Society at the National Rifle Armory last night.

Prof. Hellprin described a visit to the Guianas, illustrating his lecture by stereoscopic pictures of Georgetown, the capital of British Guiana, the natives, the interior, and the waterways. Georgetown, he said, is a city of from 50,000 to 55,000 inhabitants, of whom 5,000 are whites, the remainder being Indian or negro coolies. The city is modern in some respects, having a system of trolley cars and electric lights.

The interior of the country, he stated, is remarkable for the variety of its animal life. The blood-sucking bat, which Prof. Hellprin said frequently attacks the large animals and even man, was described. In the smaller mammals, he stated, a light is kept in the stables to prevent the attacks of these bats.

The Guianas, said Prof. Hellprin, have changed little within the last hundred years, there still remaining a large field for explorations.

HORSES FALL SIXTY FEET

Team Goes Over Precipice—Owner Digs Them Out of Snow Pile.

Span Worth $500 Has Marvelous Escape in Mad Plunge from Hook Mountain.

New York, Feb. 8.—Aaron Canfield's team of horses, worth $500, plunged down the sixty-foot precipice on the side of Hook Mountain, near Pine Brook, N. J., yesterday. They fell in a tremendous snowdrift, which the wind had piled fully thirty feet deep at the bottom of the bluff. Canfield dug them out after three hours' hard work. Naturally, the horses were stiff and shivering, but Canfield could not find that they were even bruised. The tremendous force with which they fell prevented injury to them.

Canfield was hauling logs from a wood lot on the mountain. He had unhitched the horses from his sled and was about to hitch them to a log to haul it where he could load it. An ice-laden limb snapped, and, falling from the tree, struck the horses' backs.

Scared, they made a leap that tore the reins from Canfield's grasp. Blindly they ran toward the precipice, 100 feet away, its edge swept bare of snow by the winter's blasts. Over the edge they sprang. Canfield peered down, expecting to see their mangled bodies. Instead, he saw them buried in the great drift, which was soon packed under them by their weight and their struggles. Canfield got a shovel, went to a place where he could climb down safely, and finally extricated the team.

CORNELL ALUMNI BANQUET.

Over Hundred Men and Women Make Merry at Cairo.

More than 100 men and women of the Cornell Alumni Association of the District of Columbia gathered at the annual banquet of the organization at the Cairo last night. They sang the "dear old" college songs, exchanged reminiscences of "dear old" Ithaca days, and listened to the speeches about the "dear old" alma mater. The principal speakers of the evening were Prof. Albert W. Smith, director of Sibley College, successor of the late Robert Thurston as the head of the engineering school, and Mrs. C. David White, Prof. Smith spoke about the tendency of educational work at Cornell and the social life between the student and "co-eds." Mrs. White spoke about the women last night and their work after graduation. Among the guests were Representative J. H. Southard, of Ohio, an alumnus of '74 and member of the first Cornell crew.

SUES FOR FALSE ARREST.

Marion L. Burrows Wants $15,000 Damages from Abraham Lissner.

Marion L. Burrows yesterday brought suit in the District Supreme Court against Abraham Lissner, a merchant, for $15,000, for alleged defamation of character, false arrest, and assault. She charges that on December 11, 1906, while in Lissner's department store, she was arrested by agents of Mr. Lissner and charged with the larceny of some combs, and that they laid hands upon her and took her to a private room in the store, where she was held a prisoner for nearly two hours.

She claims that the charge was false and malicious, the arrest unwarranted and illegal, and that she had been injured in credit and reputation and brought into public scandal.

Confederates Want Monument.

The Confederate associations of the District were urged to unite in securing a fund of $50,000 to be devoted to the erection of the Confederate monument in Arlington, at a meeting of Washington Camp, Sons of Confederate Veterans, at the lecture hall of the Church of the Covenant, for the benefit of the Washington Playground Association. Dr. Griggs' lecture last night was upon "Tolstoi," and the life and career of the great Russian reformer and publicist was reviewed in a graphic manner, the speaker bringing out especially his labors for many years in behalf of the peasantry of his native land. The grim figure of the reformer, who has been likened to Martin Luther, was drawn with skill.

WAR SEEMS CERTAIN

Advices from Nicaragua and Honduras Are Alarming.

MEXICO WARNS TWO NATIONS

President Diaz Working with the United States to Prevent the Outbreak of Hostilities—American Consul, W. E. Alger, However, Wires Conflict Appears Inevitable.

There is about to be a real war in Central America between Honduras and Nicaragua. One dispatch received at the State Department yesterday from Honduras says that it is inevitable that hostilities between the two nations will break out. The situation is very grave. It seems certain, therefore, that there will soon be an actual conflict, unless the combined influences of Mexico and the United States can prevent it.

Mexico has already taken steps to prevent an actual outbreak, having instructed her diplomatic representatives in the two involved countries to make representations to the effect that Mexico, and the United States as well, would expect the prospective belligerents to exhaust every means, including arbitration, before going to war, and that both countries should live up to all their treaty obligations. As was the case last summer, when the efforts of President Roosevelt and of President Diaz, of Mexico, brought an end to the war between Guatemala, Honduras, and Salvador, this government and that of Mexico are now working toward a peaceable adjustment, but there is nothing so far to indicate that the efforts will be successful. It seems that Nicaragua is anxious to engage with Honduras, and it is not considered likely that Honduras will hesitate in case Nicaragua starts the conflict going.

Alger's Dispatch Alarming.

The most alarming dispatch received at the department came to-day from Leslie Combs, the Minister to Guatemala, who transmitted a message received by him from William E. Alger, the American consul at Tegucigalpa, Honduras. Mr. Alger said that war seemed inevitable. Being on the ground, it is considered that he should know. He evidently found it more content and quicker to communicate with the department through Mr. Combs.

The other dispatch received at the State Department came from Mr. McCreary, secretary and charge d'affaires of the embassy to Mexico, who said that war had not actually broken out, but that the situation was very grave.

When peace was made between Honduras, Guatemala, and Salvador on board the U. S. S. Marblehead off Acapulco, Salvador, last summer, it was believed that the tranquility of Central America was assured for some time to come. Nicaragua, however, showed an eagerness some months ago to hold herself aloof from peace negotiations, but it has not been made clear that that country contemplated war.

Cruiser Chicago Due Soon.

The cruiser Chicago will probably reach Acapulco within a few days. The policy of the government of the United States and Mexico in their efforts to maintain peace will be to bring representatives of the two countries together. There is an arbitration between the two countries now in progress. In Salvador, the case is apparently settled. The policy of the government of the United States and Mexico in their efforts to maintain peace will be to bring representatives of the two countries together.

right of London, Who Was at One Time a Philadelphia Belle.

Special to The Washington Herald.

Snow Hill, Md., Feb. 8.—Word has just been received here of the death of Lady Kartwright, of London, England. By her death Harry R. Ayars, of Berlin, this county, will come into an inheritance of about $300,000.

Lady Kartwright was the daughter of John Richardson, a native of Worcester County, who left here when a young man and went to Philadelphia, where he engaged in business successfully, and at the time of his death, forty or fifty years ago, he was a wealthy banker of Philadelphia, leaving real estate in that city valued at $500,000.

His daughter, Mary Richardson, was a beautiful society woman. She was wooed and won by Lord Charles Kartwright, of England, at that time British consul at Philadelphia. John Richardson was opposed to the marriage, and in making his will he entailed his property in such a manner that it would revert to his Worcester County relatives at the death of his daughter.

He left two nephews—Harry R. Ayars, of this county, and a brother, who resided in South Carolina up to the time of his death, several years ago. He left two children, with Harry R. Ayars, will receive the $50,000 held by Lady Kartwright during her lifetime. Mr. Ayars is over eighty years of age, but is hale and hearty.

NEWS OF ALEXANDRIA

Arrangements for Washington's Birthday Completed.

NEW FACTORY TO BE BUILT

City Council Committee Considers Proposition to Lease Ground to Chicago Manufacturing Company. Will Employ Large Number of Hands—Two Charters Granted.

WASHINGTON HERALD BUREAU, (Bell Telephone 114.)

Alexandria, Va., Feb. 8.—With the exception of the details, final arrangements for the celebration to take place here February 22, in honor of the anniversary of the birth of Gen. Washington, were made this evening at a meeting of the George Washington Birthday Association, under whose auspices the observations will be held. The meeting, which was well attended, was held in the old Friendship fire engine house on South Alfred street, and was presided over by A. D. Brockett, the president of the association.

It was decided to hold the banquet at 2 o'clock in Army Hall. Although the President and the governor of Virginia, who were invited, will be unable to attend, other prominent people are expected as guests of honor, and speechmaking will be a part of the affair. The band concert, for which one of the leading bands of Washington will be engaged, will take place between 1 and 5 o'clock, the principal event being at the corner of King and Washington streets. The visit of a committee to Mount Vernon to place a wreath of flowers on the tomb of Washington will occur in the morning, the hour of which will be selected as the time for the start over the electric line. By order of the mayor, the bells on the public buildings throughout the city will be rung at noon on the day of the celebration.

In order to arrange details for the exhibition of the working powers of the old Friendship fire engine, a called meeting of the Friendship Firemen's Association will be held in the near future. The ancient apparatus, which is operated by hand, will be moved to a point on King street, where the spectators will be shown how the engine used to throw water on fires in the old times. This feature of the celebration will be peculiarly appropriate, as Gen. Washington was an active member of the company.

Factory to Be Built.

A meeting of the joint committee of the city council on finance and public property was held this evening, when the proposition of a Chicago manufacturing company to lease a certain piece of ground belonging to the city for the purpose of erecting a plant thereon was considered. It is understood that the committee will make a favorable report on the matter at the semi-monthly meeting of council which will be held February 12.

The concern proposes to erect a building at a cost of at least $25,000, where a large force of hands will be employed. The proposal was brought to the attention of council early in January, after it had been considered by the local chamber of commerce.

Two Charters Granted.

The Southern Commercial Company, of Roslyn, Alexandria County, Va., which is organized to conduct a general publishing and printing business, has been granted a charter of incorporation by the State corporation commission. The officers are: W. C. Wynn, president; C. F. Sudwirth, vice president, and G. H. Hall, secretary and treasurer, all of Washington. The capital stock is placed at $25,000.

The State corporation commission has also granted a charter to the Bank of Alexandria, of Colonial Beach, Va., the object of which is to do a banking business. The officers and incorporators are F. F. Nide, W. F. Renshaw, and George Mason, all of Colonial Beach. The sum of $50,000 is named as the capital stock.

Grocery Store Robbed.

Frank Adams, who conducts a grocery store at the corner of Columbus and Wolfe streets, reported to the police to-day that his store was entered by burglars last night and robbed of a small amount of cash and merchandise worth about $20. TO CURE A COUGH.

A noted authority on lung trouble advises that as soon as a cold is contracted, the following simple treatment should be given. The ingredients can be purchased from any prescription druggist at small cost and easily prepared in your own home. It is said to be so effective that it will break up a cold in twenty-four hours and cure any cough that is curable.

Take a half ounce Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure), two ounces of Glycerine and eight ounces of good Whisky. Shake well and take in teaspoonful doses every four hours.

Be sure that the Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure) is in the original half-ounce vials, which are put up expressly for druggists to dispense. Each vial is securely sealed in a round wooden case, with engraved wrapper, with the name—Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure), guaranteed under Food and Drugs Act of June 30, 1906, serial number 451, prepared only by Leach, Chemical Co., Cincinnati, Ohio—plainly printed thereon. Only the adulterated oils are sold in bulk; these create nausea and never effect the desired results.
